

ZIMMER+ROHDE

Product data sheet

More than twenty double threads per stitch of durable spun polyester have been fly-stitched to a natural cotton canvas to create SYDENHAM's embroidered look. The pattern resembles a flat landscape, to which the design owes its name, in memory of Sydenham Park, where the Crystal Palace stood until it burned down in 1936. The opulent and vivid embroidery gives SYDENHAM an elegant heaviness that offers a look that cannot be compared, especially at the window.
